Scriptures: Proverbs 23, Phillipians 2, 1 Corinthians 13,

notes:
Proverbs 23:25
> When God is not primary, you see Him as an obstacle.
Look at your life, what is primary in your life?
> if you don't trust God, you don't believe in God at all.
> God is not trying to be fair to everyone's opinons. It is not about what is fair or not.
> Church is to help you in your daily life.
> Don't ever justify your feelings unless there is a scripture to back you up. Your heart is desperately wicked above all things.
> Your opinions don't matter. Your trust in God does matter.
* People beating women in front children & leaving their families is completely selfish.

> Loving yourself too much can prevent you from taking care of your kids.

What decisions is your heart making? Have you given your heart to Jesus?

> When you put God first, he becomes your priority

> The moment you start to trust your own heart is the moment you lose yourself. Your heart will let you down everytime > sacrifices should only be made for God → not sports, jobs, etc.

> Listen to the decisions you make in order to make sure your decisions get you closer to God.

> when did God ever come up with the idea that church is seperate from the things of God? (never!)

Philippians 2:19–30

- There are certain people who care and some who don't.
- Sometimes you can't get others to reach out to people because they are too busy seeking things of their own.

How much of the things you do have something to do for God?

- If God was to give a description of you, would he say you are seeking your own?
- some people may not be encouraging to you or is not willing to talk to you about the Lord.
- When you love God, you will love Him when you are well and when you are sick.
- you cannot counsel people to be happy, and when they become happy you get depressed.

> You cannot make/create people to be Christians — they must be born again.
